

Revelation 4-5

What joyousness will be in heaven, when sorrow is no more,
Where every voice shall praise the Lamb, and shall for evermore.
In perfect harmony they'll sing, true praises to the Lamb,
Before that great eternal Throne of holiness they'll stand.

How loud the voices then will sing, "Worthy art Thou alone
To take the book, and look thereon", from Him upon the Throne.
The mighty Victor takes the book, and opens up the seal
To Him to whom each man will bow, and truly bend the knee.

All glory to the Lamb who bore our sins on Calvary's tree,
As God's great grace fills every heart, to think He died for me.
By Him I'm washed, redeemed, forgiven, He's Victor o're the grave,
The Son of God, the Son of man, He came to seek and save.
